

Open Science Day 2021

How can one establish Open Science within a research group? How is the discourse on Open Science applied in different disciplines and how can it be conveyed in teaching? What are opportunities and challenges of tool building? Answers to these questions will be provided and discussed by our speakers at the Mannheim Open Science Day 2021.

All members of the University of Mannheim and researchers in Mannheim and beyond as well as everyone interested in those topics are invited to join our online event.

Date: 21.09.2021, 13:00 – 17:00

Venue: Online via Zoom (login details will be provided after registration)
