Welcome to Mannheim University Library!

Courses and Counselling

If you have any questions about researching within your subject, please contact the subject librarians at the University Library. We offer literature, databases and courses on subject-specific research for your subject.

Borrowing

You can borrow media in the Central Lending Library located in the Schloss Westflügel, where you will also find the textbook collection. The books in the subject libraries can only be used on site.

Workplaces

In the subject libraries, there are individual workstations for concentrated study and study rooms for group work. You can read and study in the subject libraries seven days a week, including weekends and public holidays.

Find a workplace

Are there any free workplaces available? At www.bib.uni-mannheim.de/en/locations/available-seats/ you can see the traffic light display of the current seat occupancy in the subject libraries.

Put a lid on!

Study better with coffee or tea? You can take drinks into the library in sealable containers. Remember a lid for your cup!

Study inside, eat outside

Eating is not permitted in the library.

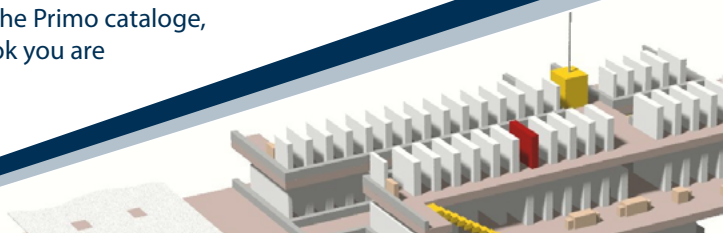

E-books, e-journals and databases

You can access e-books and databases on campus in the WLAN eduroam and outside the university network with the VPN client or via Shibboleth. You can find more information at www.bib.uni-mannheim.de/en/resources/information-on-using-e-books-and-databases/.

3D map

Looking for orientation? In the Primo catalogue, the shelf containing the book you are looking for is shown in red.

Break discs

No seats can be reserved in the library. You can use the break discs to keep your seat free during a short break. This allows you to relax during your break and then return to the library.

You can use the scanners in the library to save scans to a USB stick free of charge or send them to your university e-mail address.
